

Things to do in Wellington

Hammonds run a few different tours that can be either within Wellington (all the main hot spots) or they also run a wine tour which takes groups over to the Wairarapa – in addition to these, I have listed below some other partner programme ideas that may be interesting and have included price where known;

Hammonds tours – a range of tour options available

Hammonds wine tour - you may need to have a shortened tour to suit your times below – priced from $235 per head

Wellington City & Coastline Tour – priced from $59 per head

Zest Food Tours – a range of tour options that offer a time and theme options – priced from $205

Boomrock – a range of options from claybird shooting to cooking challenges. A stunning location with wonderful food and atmosphere – various prices dependant on what you wish to do

Wine Education Class Noble Rot - $70 per head

Te Papa guided tours – a range of tours available, priced from $20 per head

Zealandia – priced from $55 per head

He Tohu Tour – Free of charge Weta Studio Tours – Dependant on tour

Parliament Tours – free of charge (you could then follow with lunch at Bellamy's which is located in Parliament and run by Logan Brown)
